MARION CENTER JOINT HIGH SCHOOL

MARION CENTER
JOINT HIGH SCHOOL

In ancient times it was believed that the earth was the center of the solar system. Of course, today we realize that the sun holds this key position with the nine planets revolving around it. To a space scientist or rocket engineer the exploration of the solar system is the goal for which he is striving. But to us at Marion Center the solar system is comparable to our own high school. The administration and faculty provide a guiding light to keep the students on the right path, just as the sun holds the planets in their orbits. In reality we are only a minute particle in our solar system, but to each of us has been given the responsibility and challenge to press onward. We must move from planet to planet in the solar system of our school and of our lives until we reach our goal.

THEME

The sun, center of our solar system, is the nucleus of solar activity. As the planets revolve around our sun, so the administration is the axis of all school activities. We are very fortunate at Marion Center to have a devoted and experienced administration and teaching staff to help us arrive at our decisions and to guide us in these most important years. These counselors are the nerve center of our school.

High School days are wonderful days of ever changing and broadening experiences, through which we are learning to think and act more independently, moving ever closer to the time we will stand for ourselves, and make our own place in the world. There are all kinds of classes without end, books, books, and more books to read and study; teachers who demand our best efforts; impossible jobs which somehow we find we can do; parties and activities and games; work and fun; and friendships for a lifetime.

Through these classes, activities and sports we build body, mind, and character. We strengthen and extend basic learnings. We see more clearly our heritage of freedom, grow in love of country, and understanding of citizenship. Job opportunities beckon through Business, Homemaking, and Agriculture. Guidance helps us to know our talents and how to develop them. Mathematics and Science challenge us with their break through into a new world. Languages help us to understand our own. The library brings us the best of the past and present for personal improvement and pleasure. Music and the Arts open avenues for richer living and enjoyment.

High school experiences will be remembered and recalled with pleasure from time to time down through the years. How fortunate we are to have a faculty sponsor and student staff who have faithfully recorded in word and picture, between the covers of our CENTERAMA, the sparkling days of the high school years! The many times its pages will be turned will be a token of our appreciation.

The planets of the solar system each depend directly on the sun for guidance to hold them in their proper courses. As we travel further from the sun, this attraction and influence still prevails, but grows somewhat weaker. In comparison the underclassmen facing the modern space age world each depend on the teachers and administrators for guidance in their future paths. As they make each step toward graduation this influence gradually lessens.

Elaine Hamill, Loretta Hankinson, Helen Hastings, Beverly Heberling, Thomas Heberling, Darlene Helman.

Something new in Mrs. Montgomery's junior English class this year was the laboratory period. She set one period a week aside for work with the individual students. Each student had at least one conference with her each six weeks period. These individual meetings enabled Mrs. Montgomery to help the students with their individual problems.

Around The School

Charles Grant, senior class president, speaks to the student body at our annual orientation assembly. The purpose of the assembly is to welcome new faculty members and students, as well as refreshing Marion Center practices and traditions in the minds of the student body.

This is a scene from the French style restaurant which the French classes sponsored at the P.T.A. Fair. Along with the French atmosphere, delicious French pastries were served. The profits from this went to the P.T.A.

This is a scene from the Christmas party the commercial department held for its members. The party was held to acquaint the students with proper conduct for office parties.

After receiving an invitation to the Governor's inaugural parade at Harrisburg, our band put forth hours of practice for the occasion.

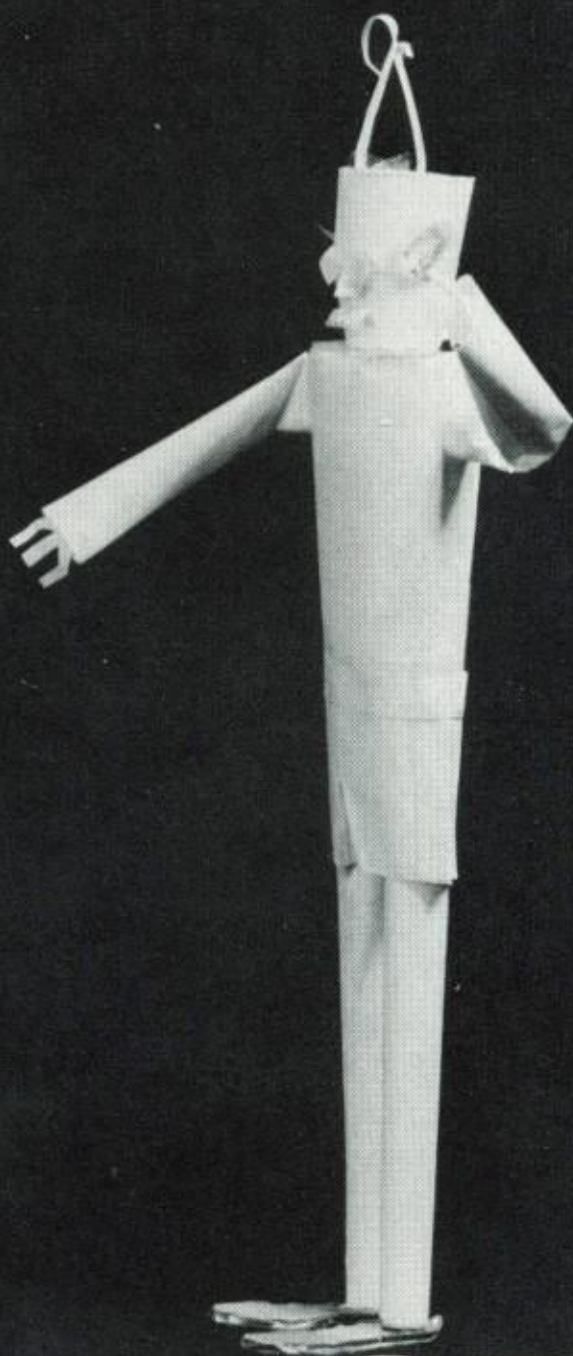

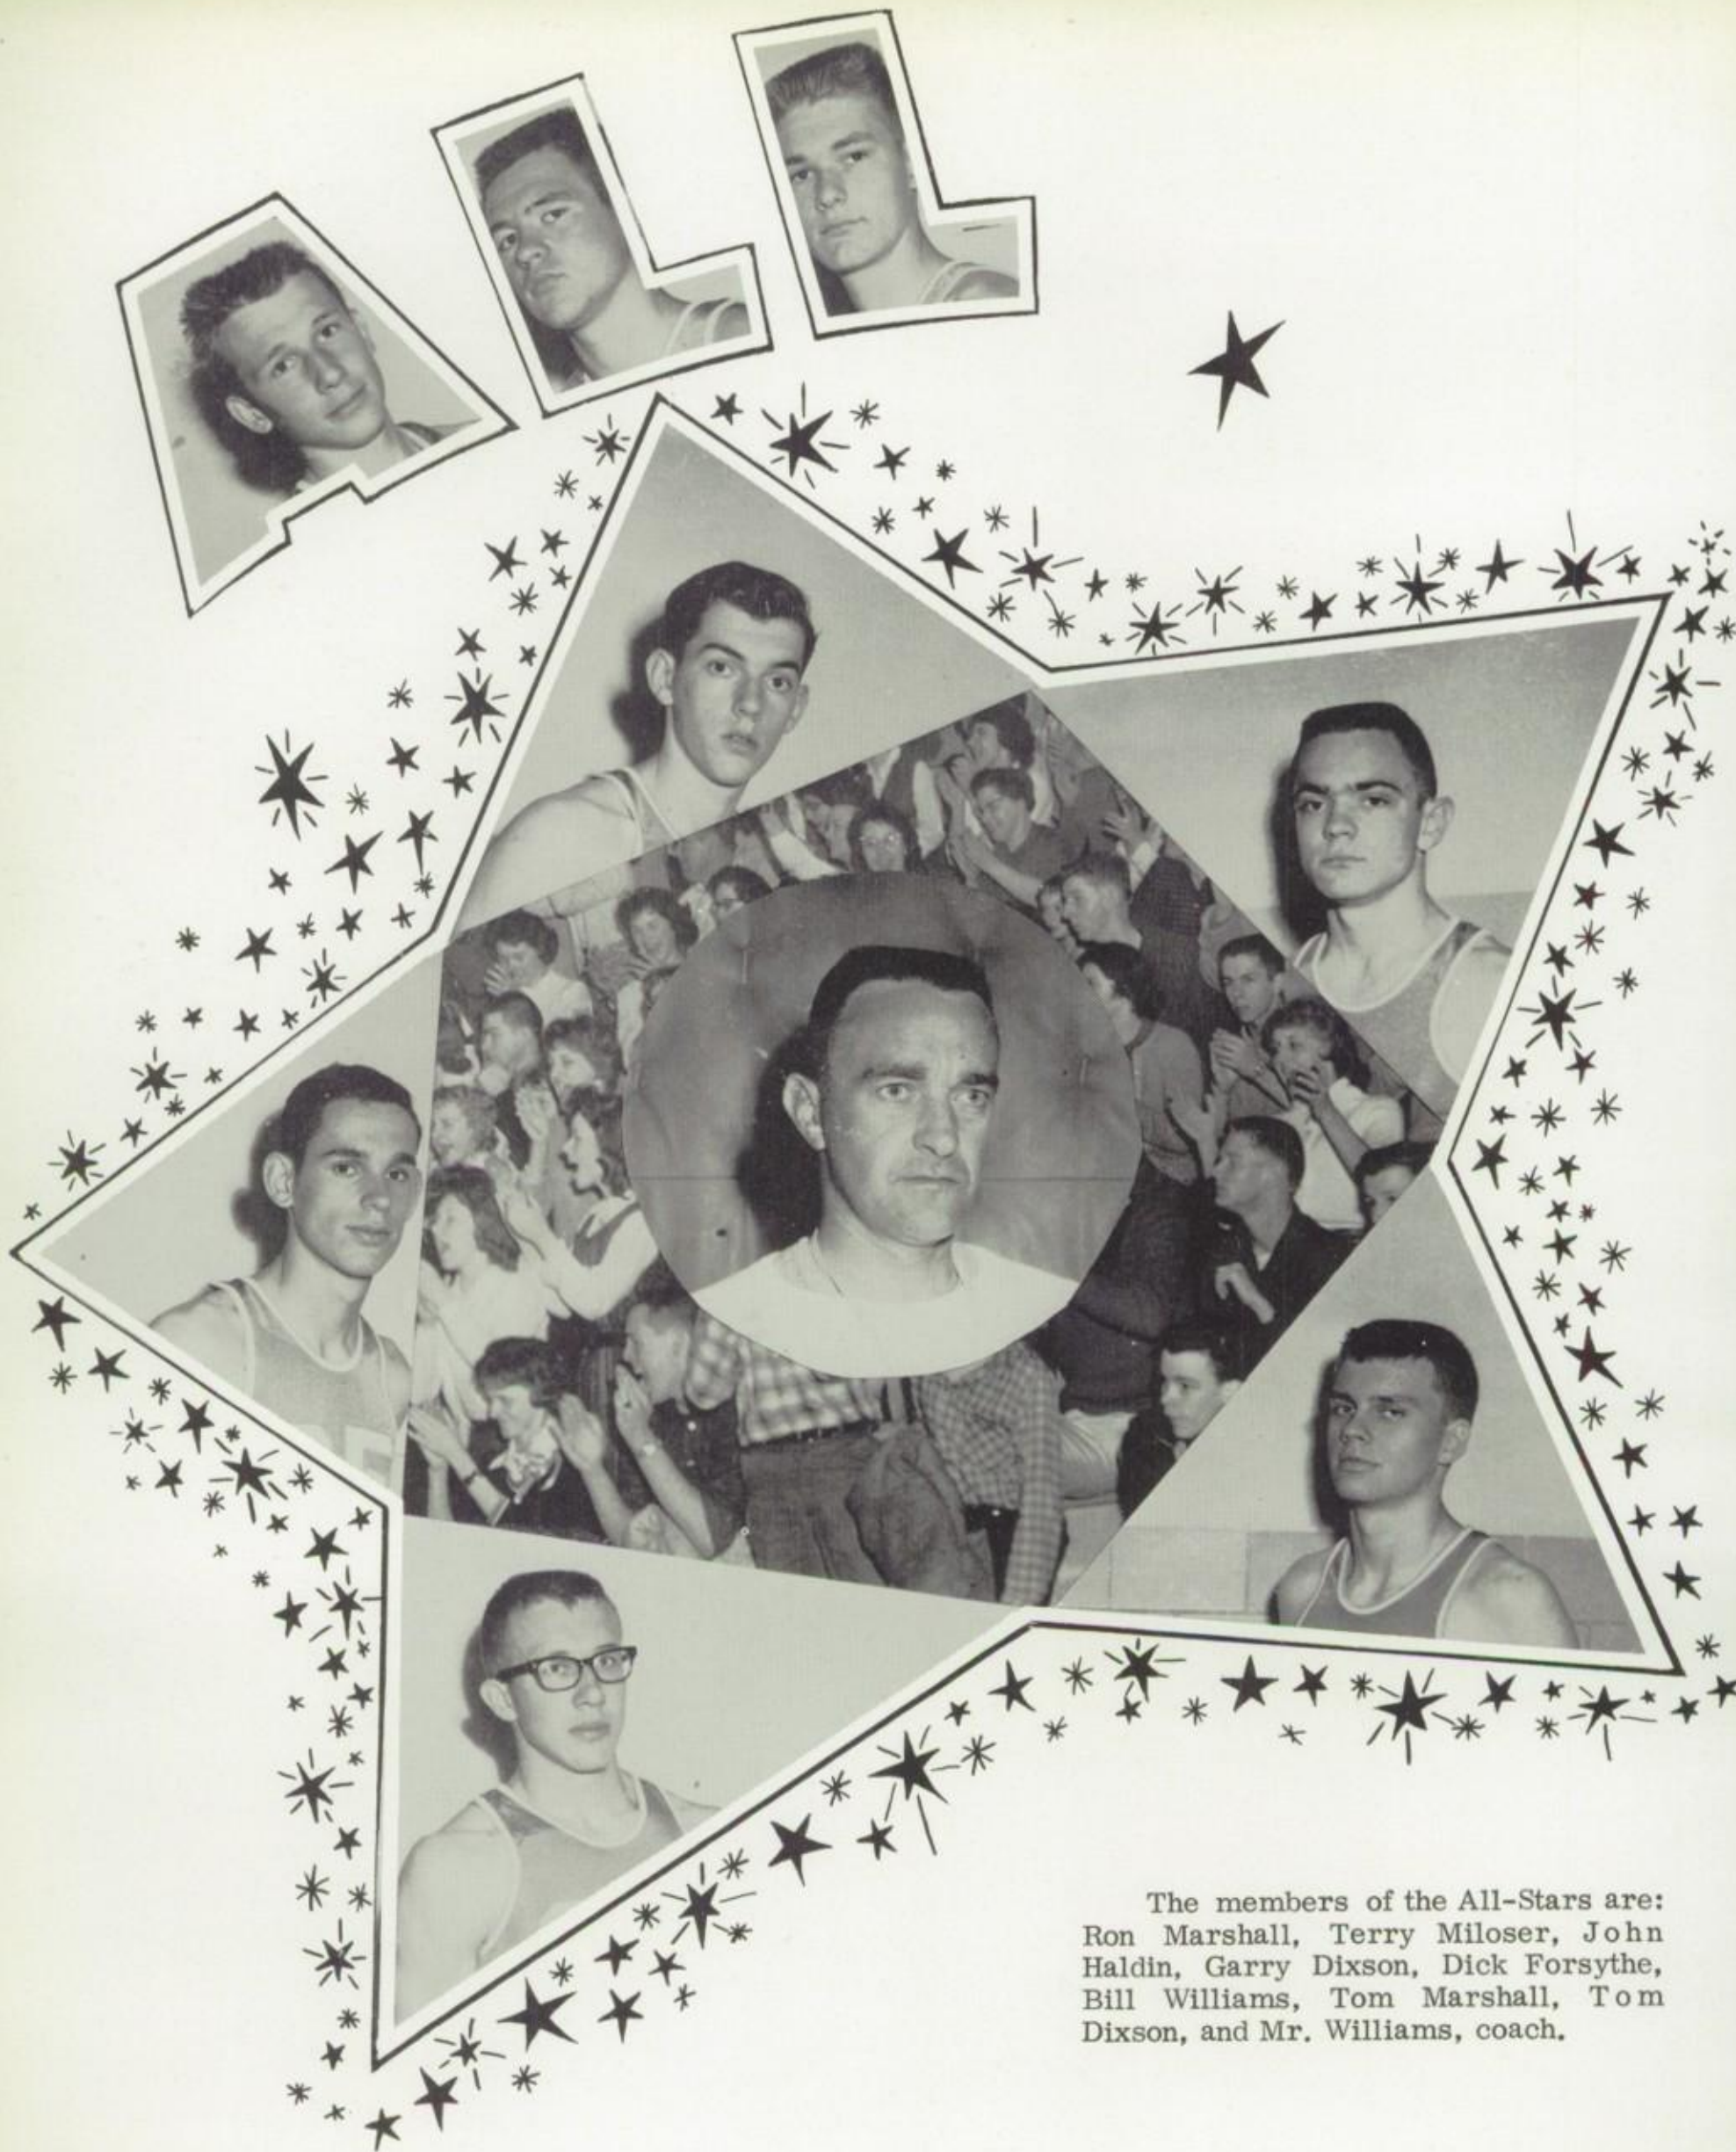

In our solar system there are bodies other than the planets which orbit the sun. Some of these objects are comets that appear regularly and attract the world's attention at that particular time. These speeding objects are suggestive of the various sports in our school and the students that participate in them. These athletes and the sports they play in also appear seasonally to represent our school and to entertain our sports fans.

SPORTS

The members of the All-Stars are:
 Ron Marshall, Terry Miloser, John
 Haldin, Garry Dixon, Dick Forsythe,
 Bill Williams, Tom Marshall, Tom
 Dixon, and Mr. Williams, coach.

One of the contributing factors to this year's successful basketball season was our great team defense. Here the Stingers are shown in a defense set-up against

Tom Dixon wrestles for control of the ball as an unidentified player from Laura Lamar vaults over him.

At the whistle, Tom Marshall, our center, soars upward to get the tip-off and starts this game in our favor.

Action Action Action

Offense

Wrestlers

1963

Take Down

With straining muscles and grim determination, Jim Thomas works to take down his opponent.

Predetermined by the flip of a coin, Joe Kovach takes the "up" position to begin the second period of his match.

Near Pin

John Pappal struggles for a pin with an unidentified opponent at a varsity wrestling match.

Wearing their warm-up suits, the wrestlers run onto the mat to begin their exercises before the match.

The J.V. wrestlers are Clifford Ruffner, John Pappal, Tom Hetrick, Jim Helman, Bryan Miller, Stanley Receski, Joe Fairman, Dave Stewart, Joe Canale, Ron Gress, and Richard Griffith. The coach is Mr. Ressler.

Field Events

This year at the state finals, Frank Taccone represented our school in the shot-put and the discus. Frank took first in the shot with a record throw of fifty-four feet, six inches and took fifth in the discus.

The 1963 track squad consisted of Loren Foltz, Bob McClelland, John Mizerak, George Swanlek, Larry Stenman, John Pappal, Gregory Sheesley, Roger Griffith, Alvin Green, Robert Plavi, Richard Coleman, George Fox, Louis Yanni, Edward Bellock, Frank Taccone, Doyle Fairman, Ronald Marshall, Ed Lewis, Ron Gress, Art Keslar, Jim Fisher, Tom Marshall, and Tom Dixon. The coaches were Robert Taft and Marlin Ressler.

Let's Cheer

These girls are members of the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. They were present at each game and match to cheer our boys on to victory. The J.V. Cheerleaders are Front Row: Left to right, Emma Nesbit, captain; Linda Altman, Bonnie Harvey. Second Row: Carol Duke, Frances

Congratulations

The food for the sports party was prepared over a charcoal grill as is shown in this picture. Mrs. Shaw, one of the sponsors, is assisted by Carol Midock, Irene Renosky, Joe Kovach, and Evelyn Brady.

Part of the entertainment provided at the party consisted of games in which all could participate. Basketball, volleyball, and softball were all enjoyed.

Awards for underclassmen in sports are also presented at the sports party. Mr. Taft, track coach, is awarding letters to several track men as Mr. Ressler, assistant coach, looks on.

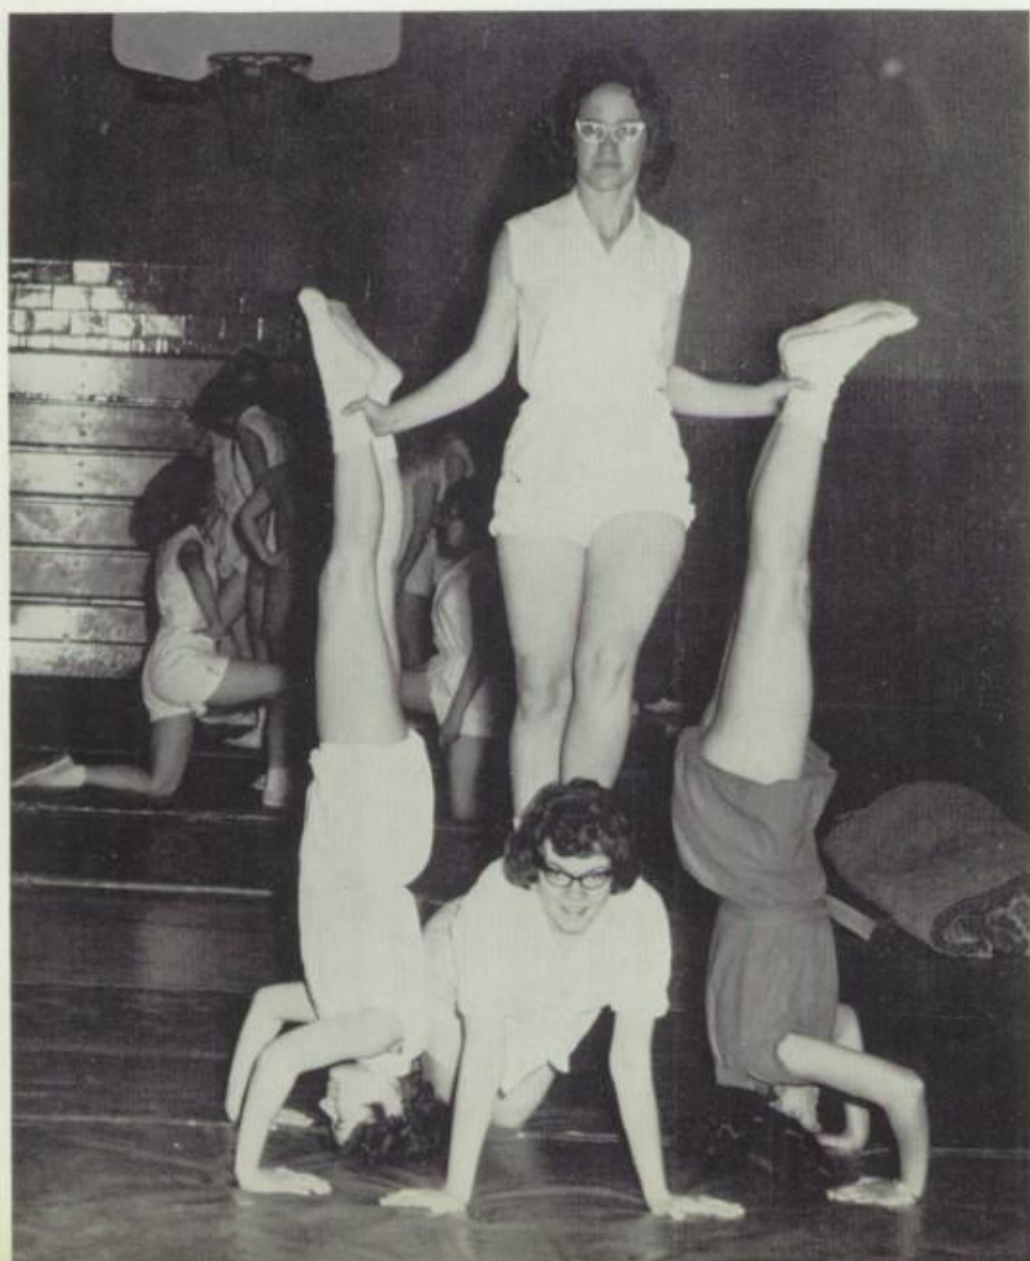

Being physically fit rates high, and this class is no exception. These girls, under the supervision of Mrs. Receski, are part of a physical education class.

Precision

After spending six week's on tumbling and learning the basic fundamentals in gym class, the students went on to more advanced phases such as this stunt done by these girls. Left to right: Mary Baker, June Brady, Betty Lemmon, Standing: Esther Cornman.

This stunt was one of a series for entertainment in the Gym Show presented to the Junior High students. Doyle Fairman is about to dive over Art Keslar.

The senior high boys enjoyed tumbling and performing various feats. Doing the pyramid seems to be a complicated task.

Balance

Fred Fairman, acting as a clown, demonstrates to the students how not to act on a trampoline.

Fred provided entertainment and laughter for the students between stunts performed by the other senior high students.

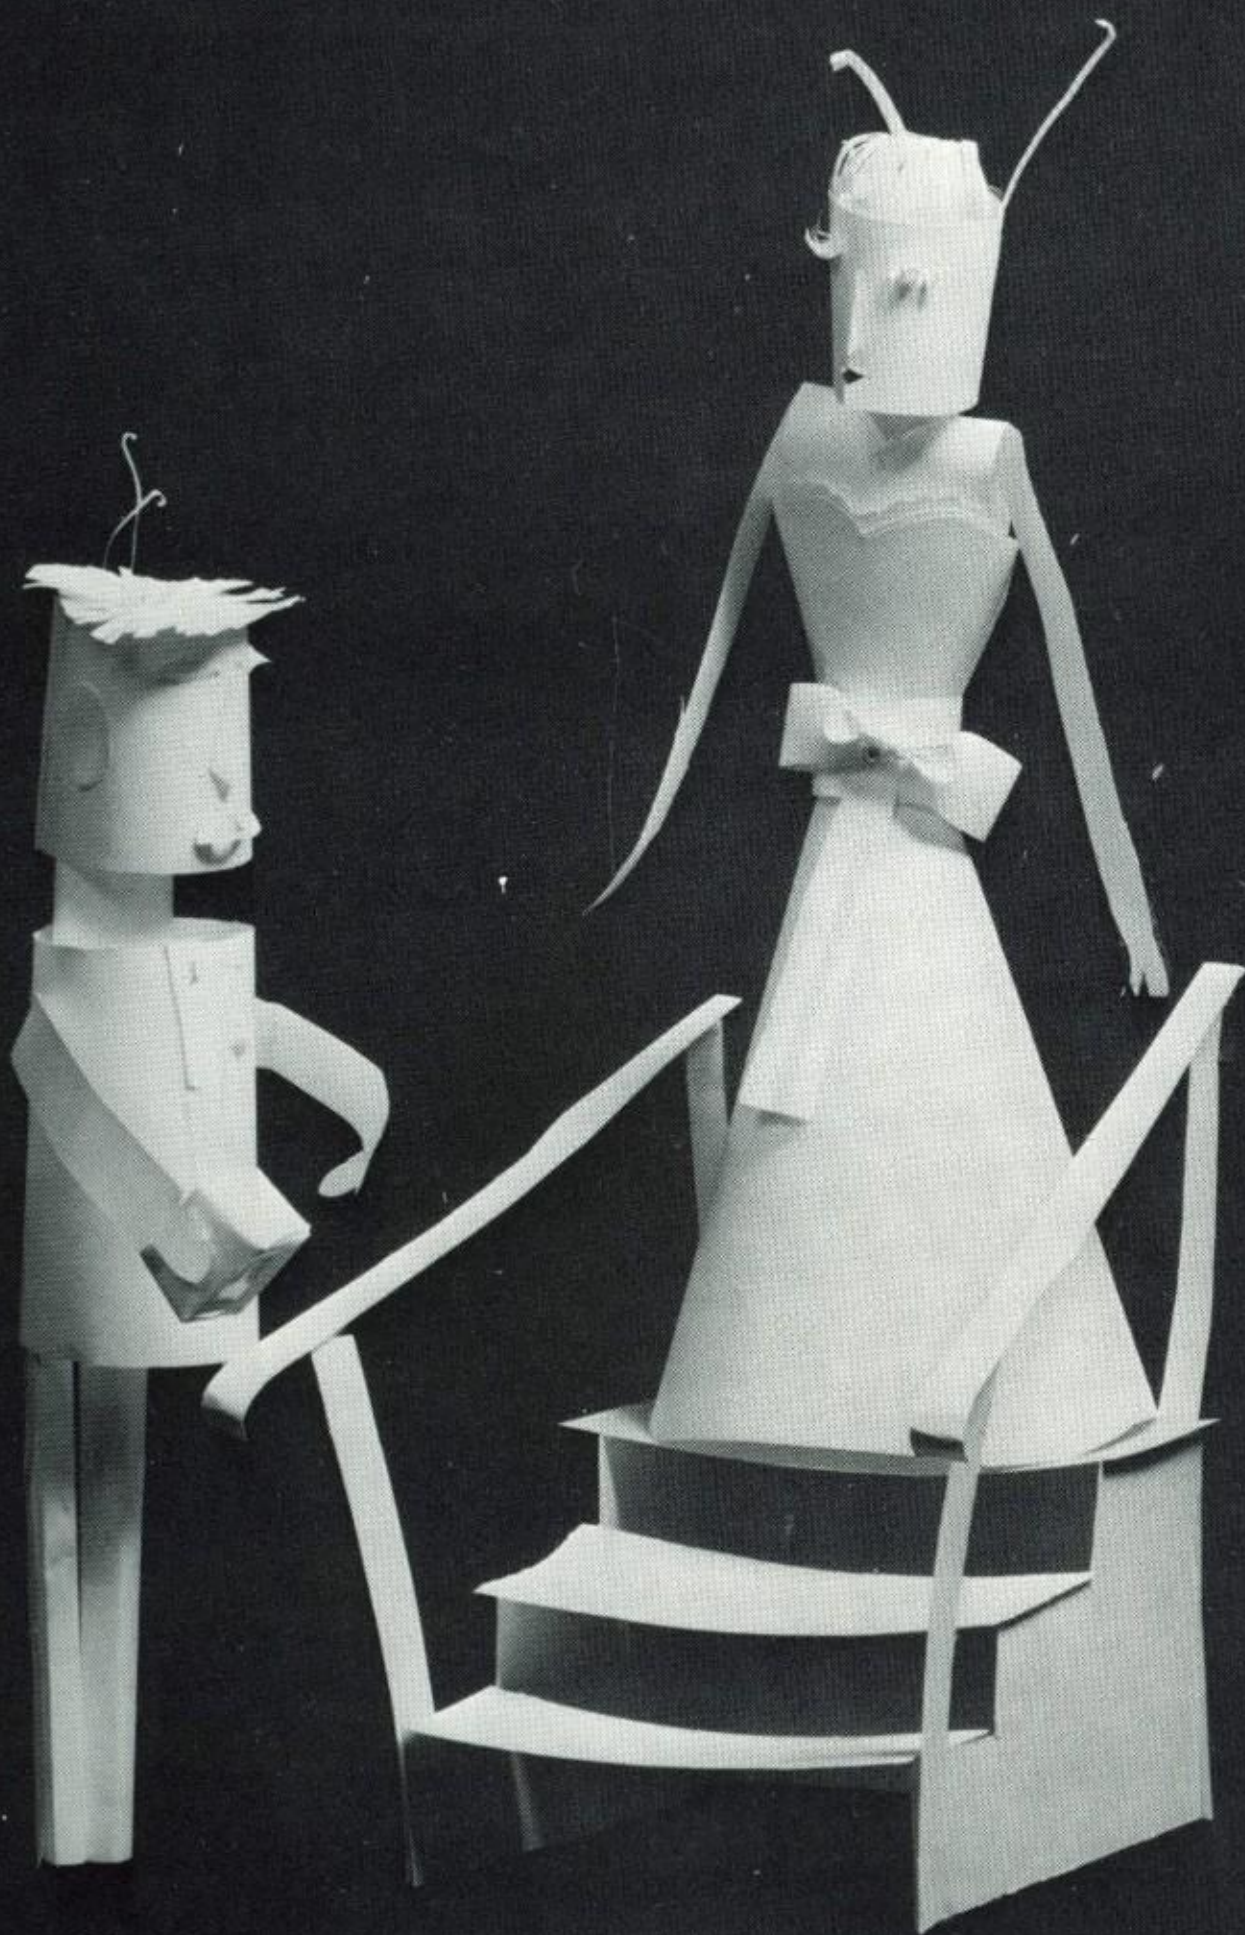

Our solar system contains moons which encompass the various planets in a way similar to the planets orbiting the sun. These moons are directly dependent on the planets and their actions are controlled by them. Usually, the larger a planet is, the more moons it has. In a like manner each of the many organizations has been formed by a group and is controlled by it, with the oldest and most dominant group having the most influence.

ACTIVITIES

Officers

Student Government

These Student Council representatives, Polly Receski, Roberta Helman, Paul Sakach, and Mary Alice Watson, are talking with their sponsor, Mr. Lingenfelter, while going to a weekly meeting.

The officers of the 1962-1963 Student Council are Beverly Baun, treasurer; Mary Baker, president; Roberta Helman, vice president; and Jo Ann Pino, secretary.

In this picture, the officers are polishing apples which the council presented to the teachers on Teacher Appreciation Day.

Scholarship

The National Honor Society officers for this school term are Barry Zias, treasurer; Ann Wilmoth, president;

Ginger Feather, vice president; and Rosalie Bernard, secretary.

To raise money for the pins for junior members, the Honor Society sponsored candy sales. Janet Orr, Rosalie Bernard, and Evelyn Brady are taking the bagged candy to the ticket booth for sale.

Helen Bernard, Carol Beresnyak, and Lois Griffith are devoting their time to helping prepare bottles for the Bloodmobile.

Service

These members of the Junior Red Cross are making favors for the Veterans Hospital. This was only one of the many good-will activities they did this year.

The officers of the seventh grade Tri-Hi-Y, Linda Peiffer, secretary; Cheryl States, president; Jane Shank, chaplain and Lois Steffy, vice president, are being installed by their sponsor, Mrs. Pauch. Elaine Oberlin, treasurer, was absent when picture was taken.

Organizations

Suzzanne Lewis, Elaine Oberlin, and Debby Nichol show plastic toys they have made to Mrs. Black, seventh grade Tri-Hi-Y advisor. These toys were made to be given to the children at the Willard Home.

Seekers Of The Truth

A few members of the science club are making tags and completing other last minute preparations for the science fair.

The officers of the "Petitores Veri" Chapter of the Science Clubs of America are Ralph Feather, treasurer; Mr. Johnson, sponsor; Fred Fairman, vice president; Darlene Helman, reporter; Mr. Butler, sponsor; Ginger Feather, president; Jean Keith, secretary; Lois Carhart, reporter; and Roberta Helman, program chairman. In this picture, Ginger is demonstrating the oscilloscope, a piece of equipment that is available for use by club members.

First award winners at our school science fair are Donald Fairman, general science; Jean Keith, physics; and David Knupp, biology.

Flash

The camera club, sponsored by Mr. Good, has been of special help to the yearbook staff. It is their duty to take, develop, and print the photographs requested by the CENTERAMA staff.

Three Camera Club members, Chuck Fleck, John Mizerak, and Rick Lightcap are examining negatives recently developed by the club.

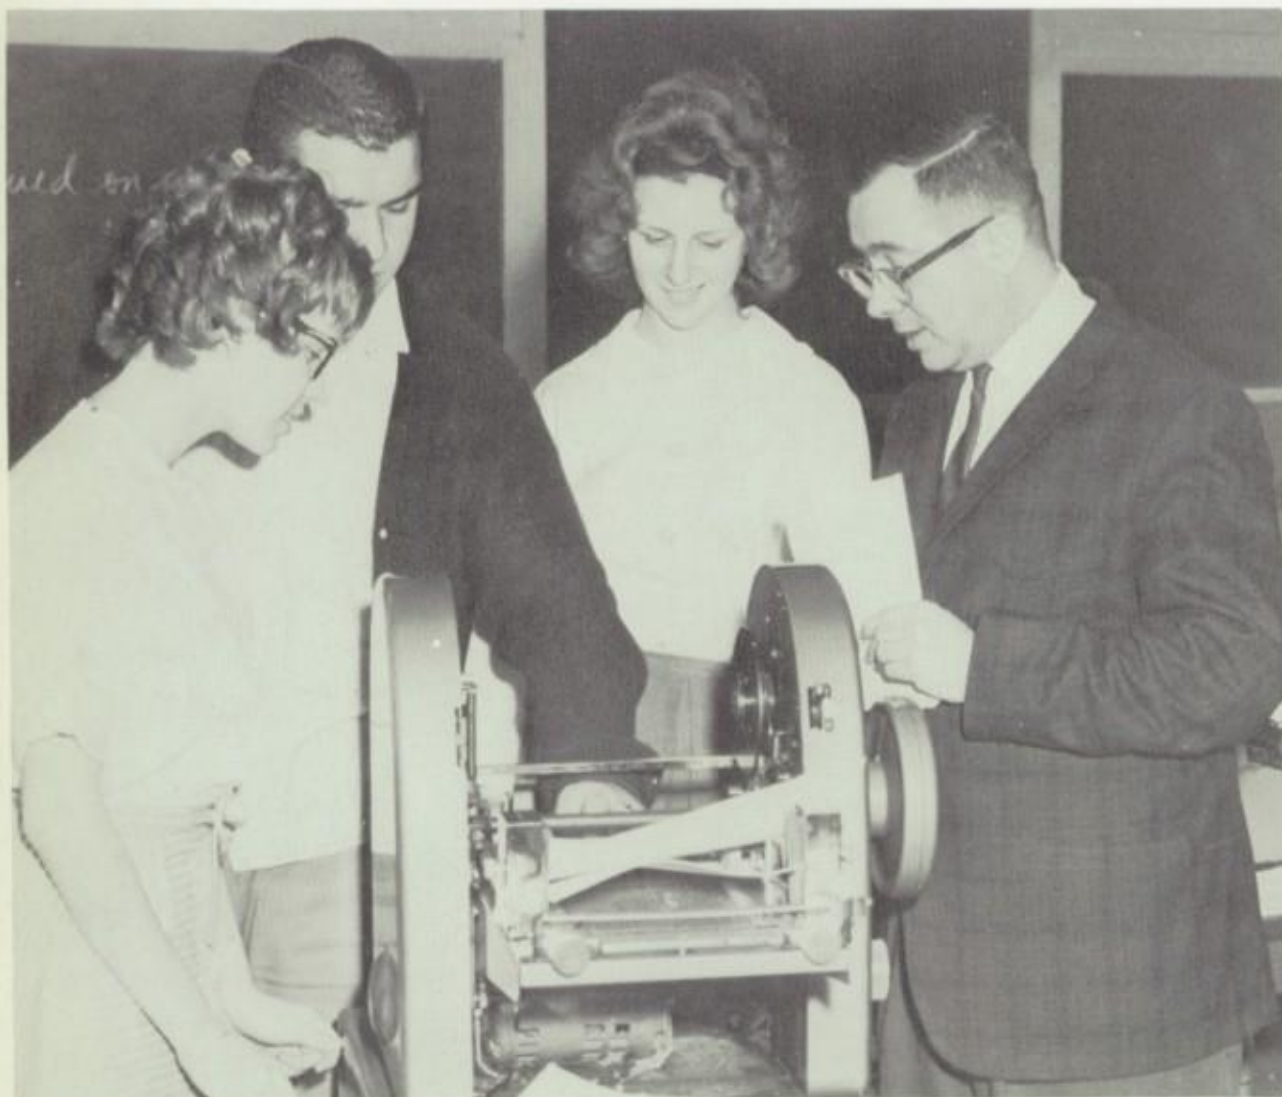

Helen Bernard, Cherie Davis, and Rosalie Bernard are filing negatives. A careful record of each photograph is kept for future use.

By-Lines

Mr. Miller, faculty advisor to the YELLOW JACKET, is explaining the operation of the mimeograph to Sandy Pollock, Frank Taccone, and Patty Pappal, members of the newspaper staff.

These typists, Mary Alice Watson, Linda Doyle, and Diane Chappell, are completing stencils for one edition of the paper.

The co-editors of the school paper, Evelyn Brady, Karen Wiggins, and Diane Burns, are checking news stories for the essential five W's.

Headlines

Members of the yearbook staff are performing the various duties necessary to produce the school annual.

Rosalie Bernard, CENTERAMA editor, is packing completed pages of the yearbook to be sent to the publishers.

Nurses of tomorrow

Judy Yackuboskey and Kathy Letso, two members of the Future Nurses Club, return from a drive the club sponsored to assist in collecting money for the Heart Fund.

Judy Fairman, Beverly Fordyce, and Eleanor Raymond are helping Mrs. Bush prepare goods for a bake sale. It was sponsored by Future Nurses to raise money for their club.

Teachers of Tomorrow

The officers of the College Club are examining a guidance bulletin that may prove valuable to them and other members of their club in planning their future. Left to right: Jim Helman, secretary; Dan Cherry, president; Carolyn Piernick, vice president, and Barbara Baun, treasurer.

The Future Teachers of America learn about teaching methods in elementary schools as they go to observe classes within the jointure. Darlene Helman, Roberta Helman, Jean Keith, and Emma Jean Kanarr return from observing a class in Plumville.

Research

Margaret Fairman, librarian, is stamping out a book for Eileen Hamill, a junior, as Cherie Davis stamps her pass.

Librarian Janet Deabenderfer is checking out a book, while John Sink and Darlene Helman are putting up a display.

Concentration

The constantly shifting places in Senior Chess Club requires a board which can be changed easily. Therefore, it is being rearranged by Tod Peterman and Dave Wells while Mr. Hoover, advisor, looks on.

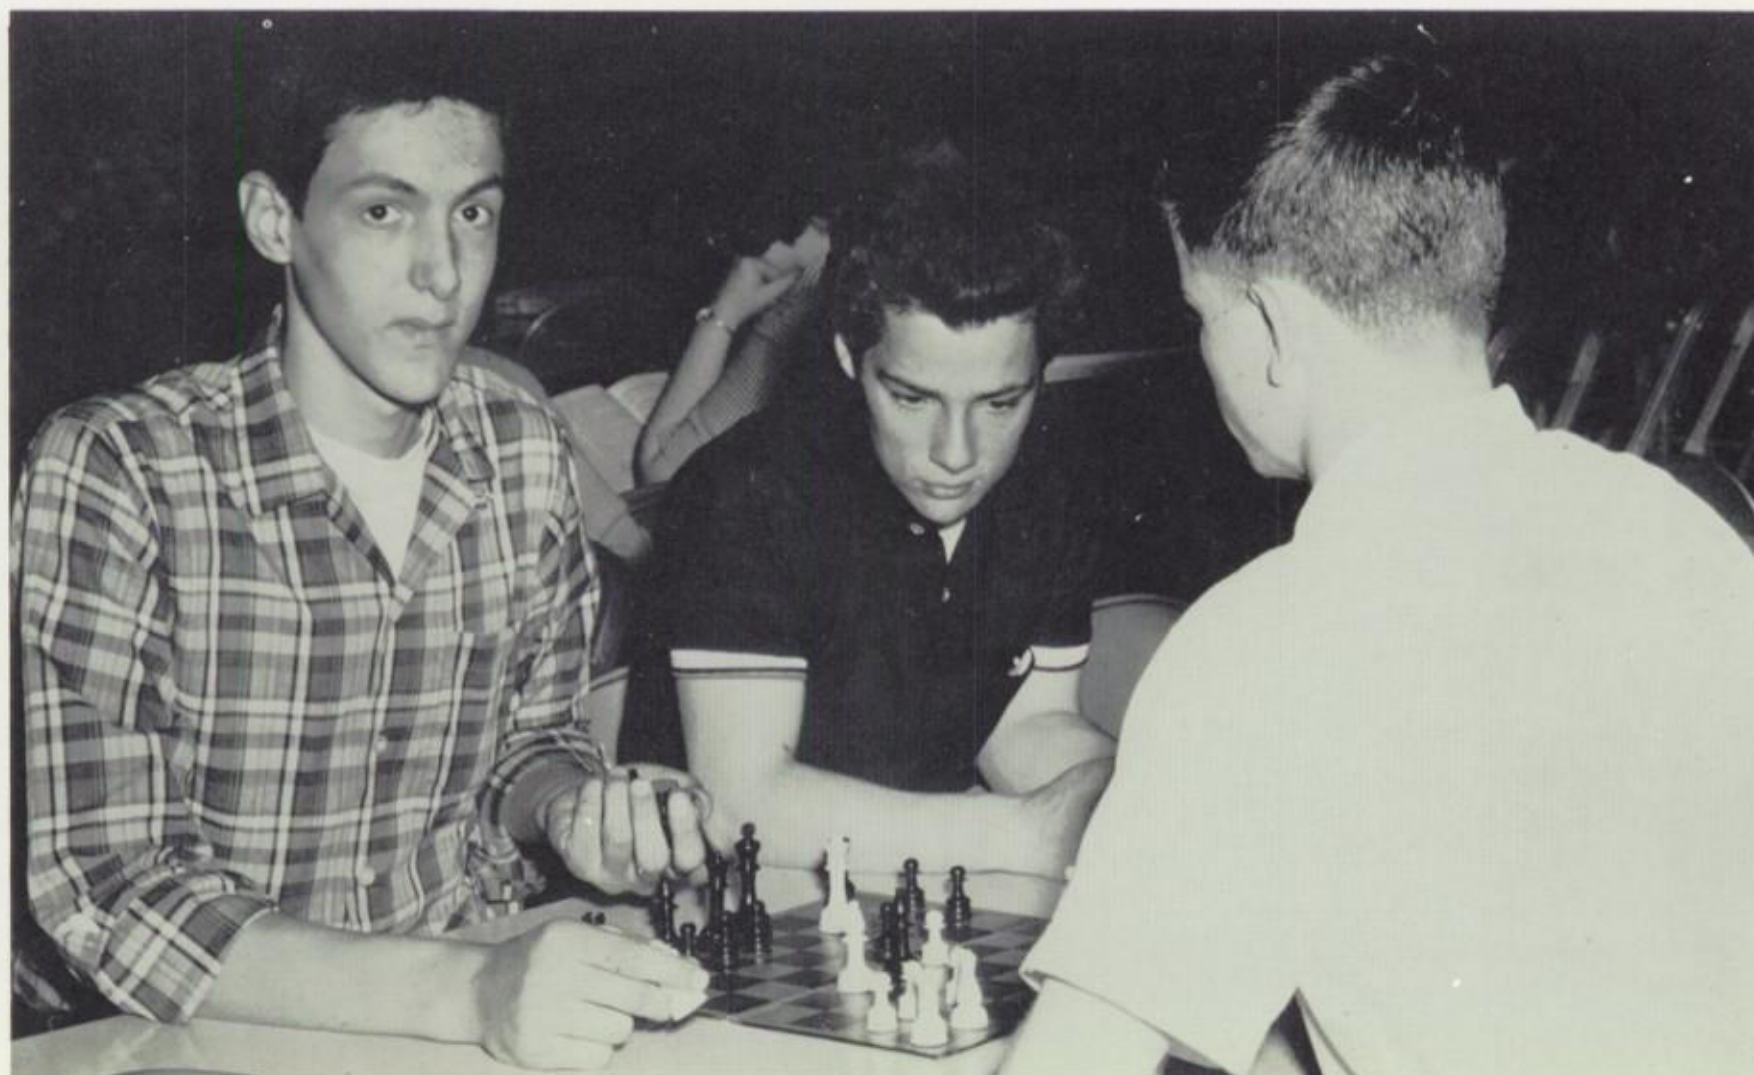

Members of Senior Chess Club play elimination matches among themselves for top honors in their club. Here John Ben Elkin and Roger Fairman, two members of the Junior Chess Club, learn the art of playing chess in junior high. Members of this club may join Senior Chess Club when they enter senior high.

George and Dan Cherry play while Dave Wells kibitzes.

Varsity Letters

and Loren Foltz. Third Row: Ron Gress, Jim Thomas, Gary Dixon, Frank Taccone, Tom Marshall, Louis Yanni, Tom Dixon, and Mr. Pompelia, sponsor. Other club members whose pictures were not available are Doyle Fairman, Fred Fairman, Bob Fairman, and Bill Polito.

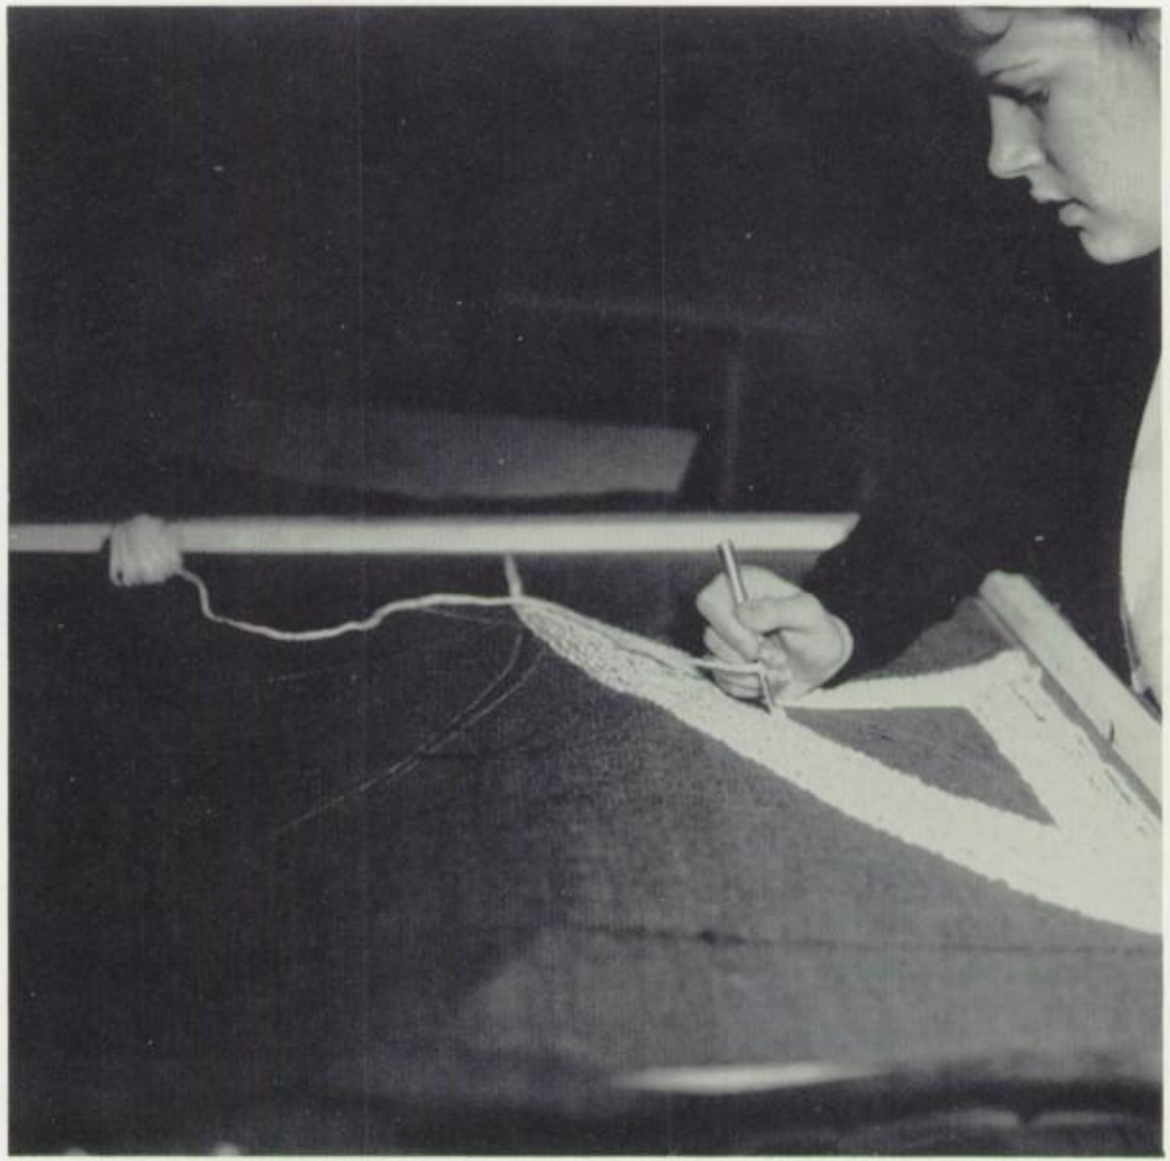

Basketball is an amusing sport, but it turns hilarious when played off the back of a slow-moving, unconcerned animal. This struggle for the ball is between members of the varsity club and the senior ag boys.

Creativity!

For the students interested in art we have an elective art class which offers anything from oil painting to basket weaving. In this photo Mieke Vuyk is hooking a rug which should become useful in future years.

Backstage lights...curtains...

One of the many jobs performed by the Projectionist Club is the operation of the stage lights. Paul Beatty and Arthur Conatti are instructing Alvin Greene in the use of these lights.

Beatrice King and Doris Keslar are leaving for a county F.H.A. meeting at Laura Lamar High School.

This scene from the annual style show sponsored by the F.H.A. pictures Mary Heberling and Ann McElhoes modeling their gowns as they dance with Denny States and Ted Williams.

Homemakers

Sprankle, vice president; Mary Lou Shireman, reporter; and Betty Lemmon, president.

This illustrative scene was at Marion Center on Junior High F.H.A. Initiation Day last fall. The members being initiated were required to wear odd clothing and pay fines if caught talking to boys. Ron Fisher attempts to persuade Suzanne Nastase to violate the initiation rules.

The Junior High F.H.A. girls assembled mending kits to be distributed to each home room. At work are Pamela Welch, Judy Elkin, Nancy Schultz, Cheryl Edwards, and Susan Cherry.

Of Tomorrow

Fairman, reporter; Diane Wells, president; Candy Thomas, secretary; and Karen Boarts, treasurer.

Learn Now

At Marion Center this year, these boys were presented with the Keystone Award. This award is the highest the state gives, and for the first time three boys received it in one year. Left to right: John Gaston, Mr. Steffy, advisor; Edward Avey, and Larry Ackerson.

Ronald Brady and Charles Gaston, members of the Marion Center Chapter of the F.F.A., are pictured with trophies received for excelling in the field of judging at the annual Indiana County Fair.

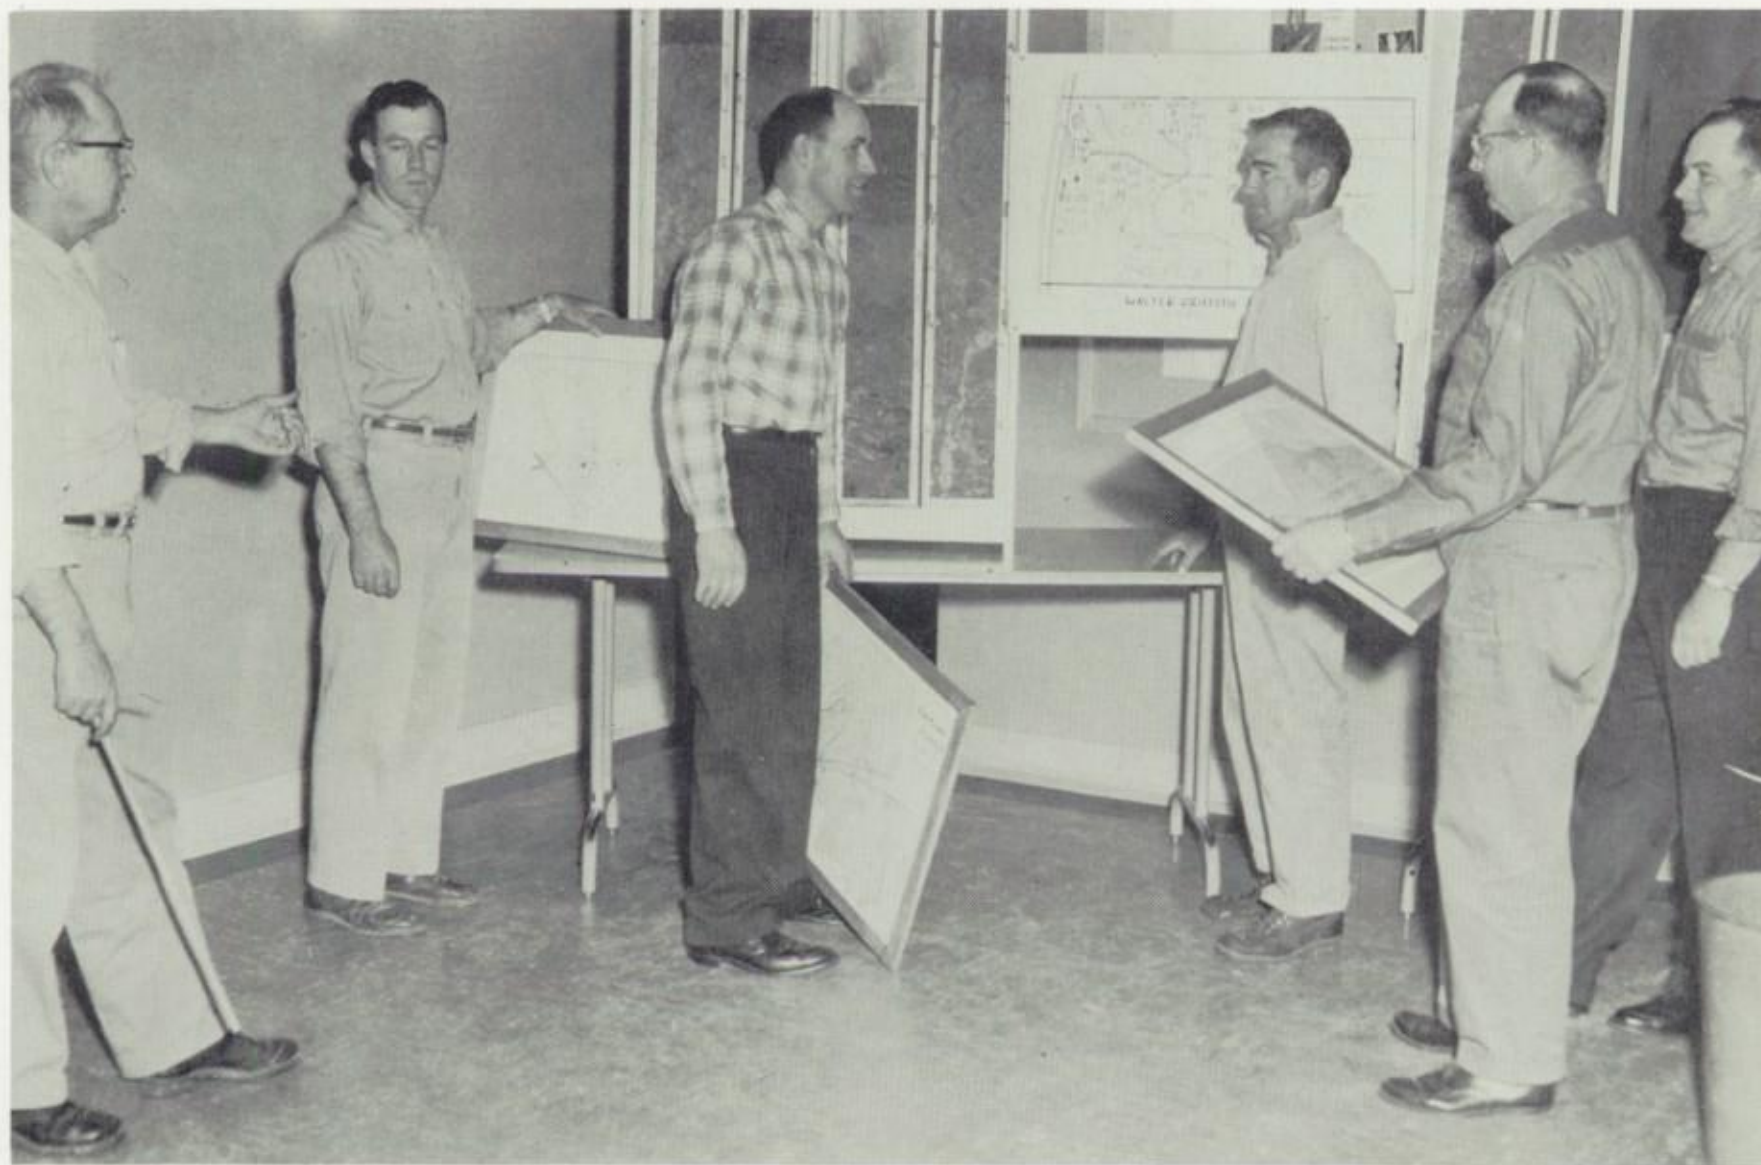

This year at the F.F.A. State Activities Week, held at State College, our chapter was represented by this group of boys. Each acquired an award for excelling in his particular field. Front Row: Left to

Apply In The Future

These members of the Young Farmers class are determining the type of soil each of their fields has by using soil monoliths loaned to them by the Pennsylvania State College. The maps they are using were prepared in cooperation with the Indiana County Soil Conservation Technicians and will be used as a part of the farm performance records. Left to right: Mr. Cook, advisor; Glen Gahagan, Raymond Glasser, Walter Griffith, Kenneth Dick, and Eugene Thompson.

Eugene Thompson, president of the Young Adult Farmers, ponders over some material concerning his organization. Mr. Cook, the advisor; works with him.

Modern farming calls for more than up-to-date methods and farm equipment. Here a group of farmers under Mr. Cook's instruction are using adding machines to determine statistics.

"Six Stitches For Ego."

In this scene, Barry Zias (Dr. Bell) observes some of the members of his adult class performing in a psychomotor drama which is supposed to bring out hidden fears

"The Adorable Imp"

The Mixed Chorus is a vocal group in our school, which is made up of senior high students. Practices are held Monday and Thursday during the fifth period.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Love, they performed at the annual Christmas program, the Spring Concert, and Vespers as well as various other assemblies during the school year.

The Junior Chorus is chosen from the junior high school students. Under the direction of Mrs. Edwards, they spend hours practicing for their performance in the Spring Concert which is held each year.

This chorus provides a background in music and an experience in performing in such a group which will help them to prepare for senior high choruses.

The girls' chorus is composed of girls in tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade. They perform at a variety of school functions which include the Spring Concert and the Christmas Program.

With A Song In Their Hearts

In the school year of 1959-60, the girls' trio was organized. Since then they have performed in many assemblies and special programs including the Spring Concert.

Music Music Music

Mr. Robert Seibert, director of Cadet Band.

Cadet Band, comprised of younger instrument players, is essential as a preparatory step for the training of senior band members. It took part this spring in the Elementary Concert, and presented its version of "Telstar" and "Bossa Nova," two current popular songs. This year, the band is under the instruction of Mr. Robert Seibert, a new faculty member.

The Beat of A March

These girls, who have mastered the art of baton twirling, contribute greatly to the showmanship of our band. The Senior Band Majorettes are, KNEELING: Norma Sebring, Judy Caylor, Sandra McAfoos, captain; Janis Say, and Lois Carhart. STANDING: Beverly Shick, Helen Hastings, Ronna McMillen, and Diane Reed.

SENIOR MARCHING BAND

The Senior Marching Band presented our school with many happy, lasting memories for the 1962-63 school year. It captivated the attention of many as its members performed with intricate precision at its many appearances. As usual, they were at the Indiana College Homecoming Parade, and various small holiday parades, taking second prize at the 150th anniversary of Ford City. The most prominent and exciting event of the season was the Governor's inauguration parade in Harrisburg to which they were invited in January.

And The Raised Baton

Mr. Frank Koziel, director of Senior Concert Band.

The Senior Concert Band, directed by Mr. Frank Koziel, is a major musical organization of our school. In the hands of its able conductor it performed in the Christmas Program, various pep assemblies, and at the Republican rally held in our gym. Another highlight of the year was the joint concert with the Saltsburg Band, which was given at our school and at Saltsburg.

SENIOR CONCERT BAND

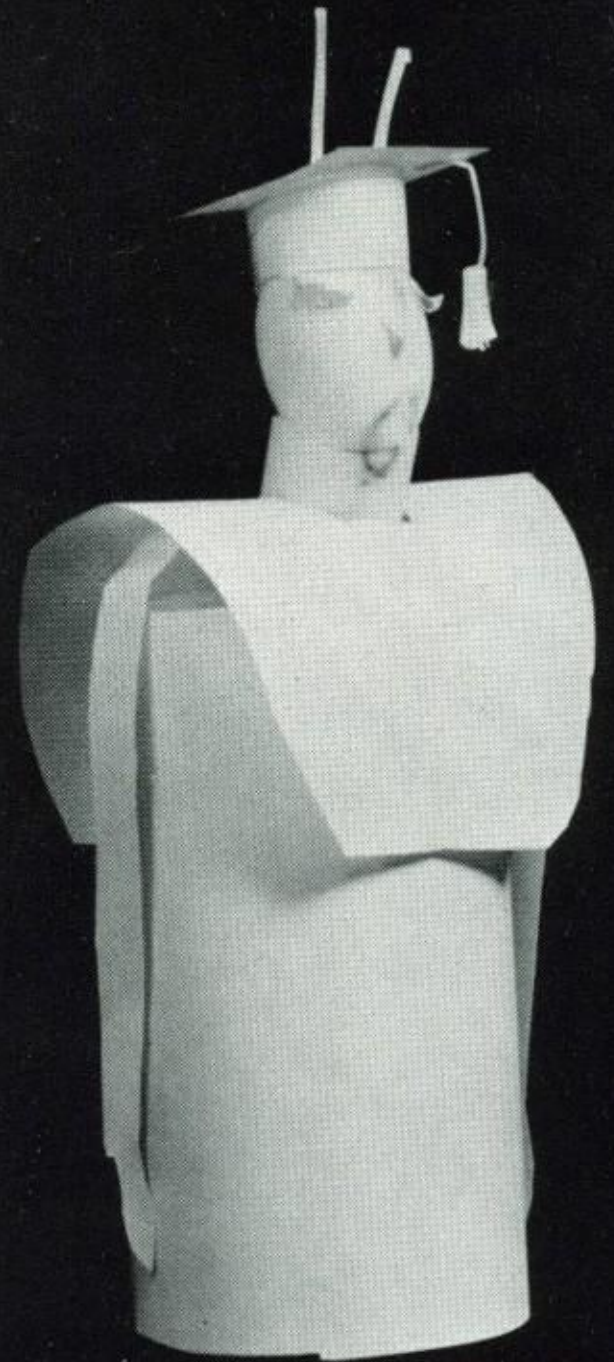

The Dance Band, a small group of instrumentalists, provides a more popular type of music when the need arises. Annually this group, directed by Mr. Koziel, is called upon to perform for special events and occasions. This year the band played for the Cancer Drive, the senior play, and at various dances.

As we travel away from the sun and past the various planets, we find ourselves in the vast emptiness of space. In all directions are paths that may be taken. This is symbolic of the seniors who are leaving school and are preparing to enter the modern world that faces them. Today a great variety of opportunities are available for our graduates.

One of the more memorable happenings at school this year was having Tomiko Ono from Japan enroll in our school. Here she addresses the students at the annual orientation assembly.

These seniors from one of Mrs. Montgomery's English classes are busily making some quick preparations for an unannounced test over the material on the bulletin board.

The dimmed lights sift through the bright oranges, yellows, pinks, and golds of the crepe paper ceiling and fall on rustling net as the couples glide around the dance floor.

During a pause between dances, Tom Marshall stops to introduce his date to his friends at a nearby table.

Golden Gates

Here at another prom table, Cherie Davis and Rosalie Bernard chatter gaily with their partners.

Elizabeth Carhart, Evelyn Brady, and their escorts are securing refreshments while others wait in line.

To Happiness

This scene shows the Prom Court dancing to the music of Ken Maurey orchestra following the coronation of the King and Queen. Members of the court included Betty Lemmon, Tom Marshall, Cherie Davis, Paul Sakach, Elizabeth Carhart, Pete Sakach, Dianna Burns, and Charles Grant.

A Success

The refreshments were delicious! Georgiana Shick and Steve Pappal sit back and relax after eating.

Royalty

KING, FRANK TACCONE

QUEEN, SANDY PARK

The most talked about social event of the school term came to a climax on May 17, 1963, with the Junior-Senior Prom. Surrounded by dreamy music and soft lights, many couples enjoyed the enchanted evening.

Young ladies with beautiful pastel gowns danced with their dates under a ceiling of draped crepe paper which carried out the theme of "Golden Gates to Happiness."

For weeks the juniors were planning the gala event. They worked diligently to earn money to finance the affair and to make it a success. Finally the committees met to complete the probable plans. About a week before the day arrived, the juniors began to decorate the enormous gymnasium. Soon it began to look like a magnificent ballroom - fit for royalty. Last minute preparations were completed on Friday and the effect was enchanting.

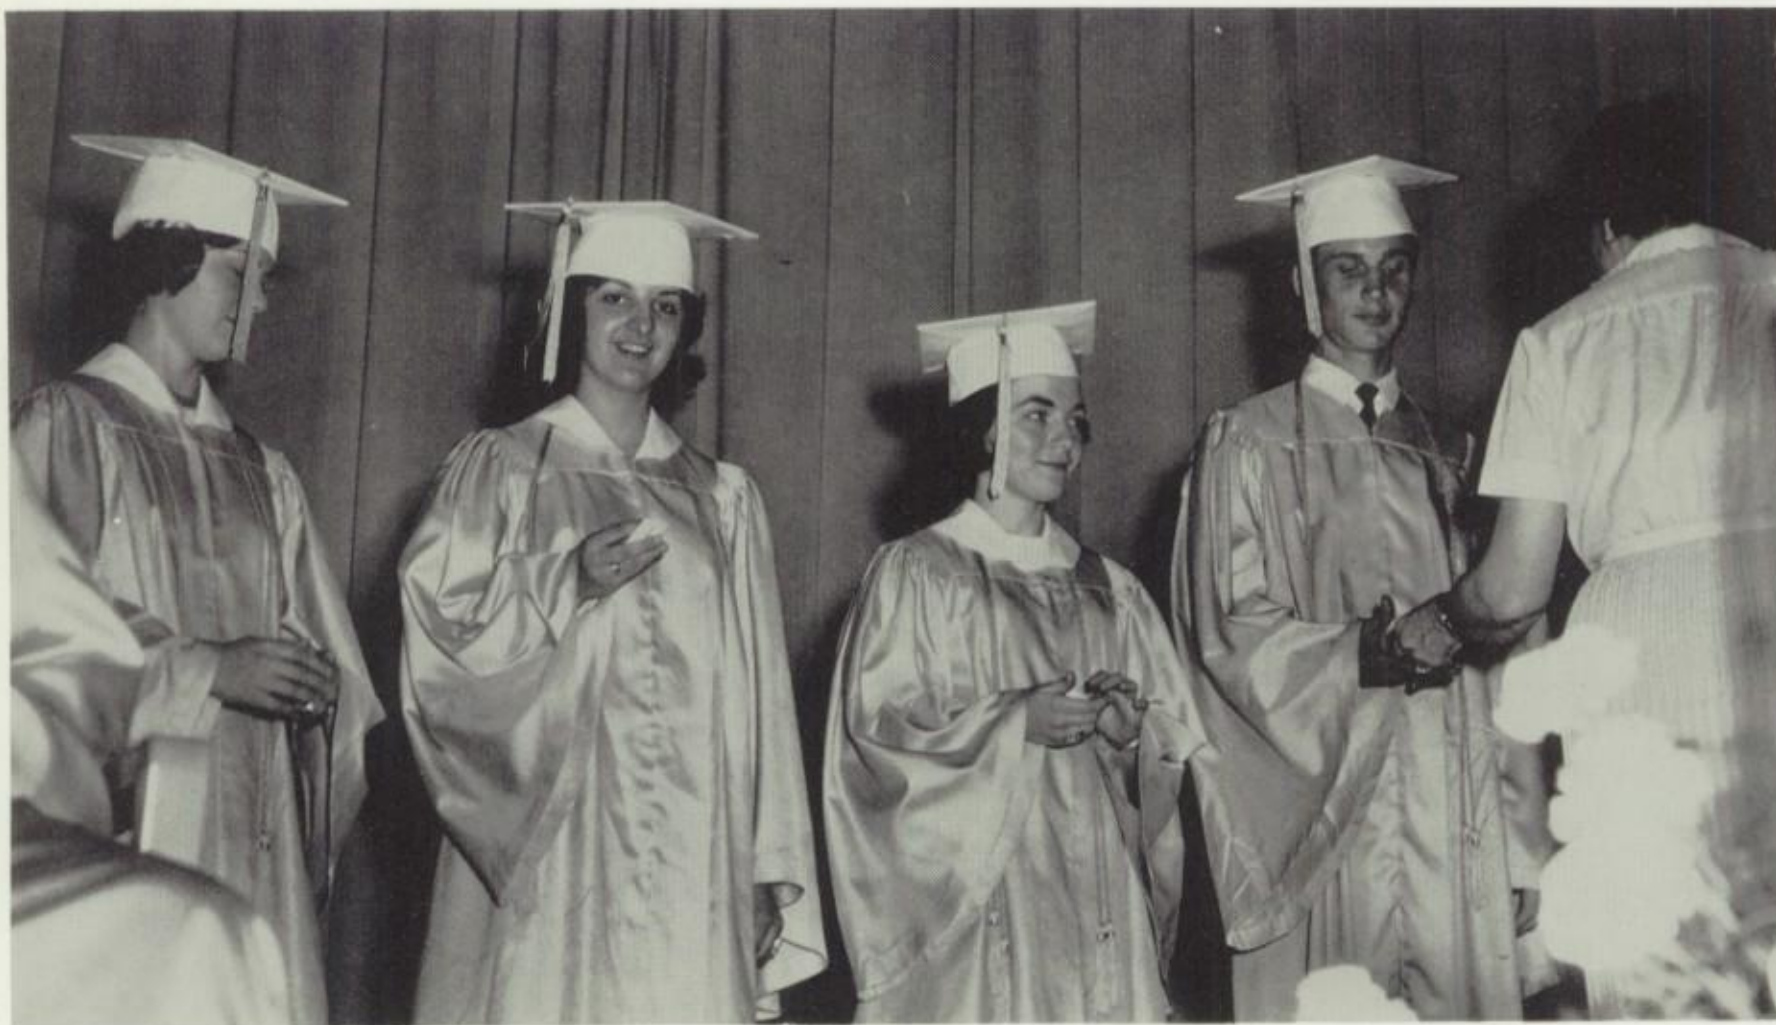

Around 9:00 P.M. the first couples began entering the golden ballroom. They danced to the dreamy music of the Ken Maurey orchestra.

The highlight of the evening came with the coronation of the King and Queen. Five couples were nominated by the Junior Class and the royalty would be selected from these. The couple chosen was Queen, Sandy Park and King, Frank Taccone. Members of the court included Dianna Burns, Elizabeth Carhart, Cherie Davis, Betty Lemmon, Charles Grant, Tom Marshall, Paul Sakach, and Pete Sakach. After the impressive ceremony the royal couple and court led off the next dance.

Despite the constant downpour of rain, everyone had an enjoyable time. Those who attended the Junior-Senior Prom will long remember, "Golden Gates to Happiness."

Final Assembly

Yearbook members receiving awards from Mrs. Montgomery are Cherie

Davis, Rosalie Bernard, Margaret Fairman, and Barry Zias.

Roberta Helman and Carolyn Piernick received awards for writing poems which were accepted by the National Poetry Association for publication in their annual anthology.

Mrs. Wagner, assisted by Shirley Barr, presents F.H.A. awards.

"Five Smooth Stones"

The Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Jo Anne Love presented the music for the Vesper Service.

The pastors who participated in the Vesper Service were Rev. Leonard H. Pearson, Rev. Douglas M. Carhart, Rev. J. K. Boston, and Rev. Roy R. Bickley. Pictured with the pastors are Mr. Lingenfelter, high school principal; and Mr. McCreery, supervising principal. The seniors listened with interest to Rev. Carhart's sermon explaining the "five smooth stones" necessary for their future success: courage, honor, cheer, endurance, and faith.

"Convictions For

The speaker for the forty-sixth annual commencement was Donald V. Hock. "Conviction for Tomorrow's World" was the title of his speech.

The Address of Welcome was made by the president of the class, Charles Grant.

Janet Deabenderfer was this year's recipient of the Raymond Munnell Scholarship Award, presented by the supervising principal, Mr. McCreery. Janet plans to major in music at Indiana State College.

Tomorrow's World"

Paul Sakach, James Montgomery, John Bush, and Charles Grant, the Trumpet Quartette, played a number entitled "Trimode" at commencement and the final assembly. Karen Wiggins was the accompanist.

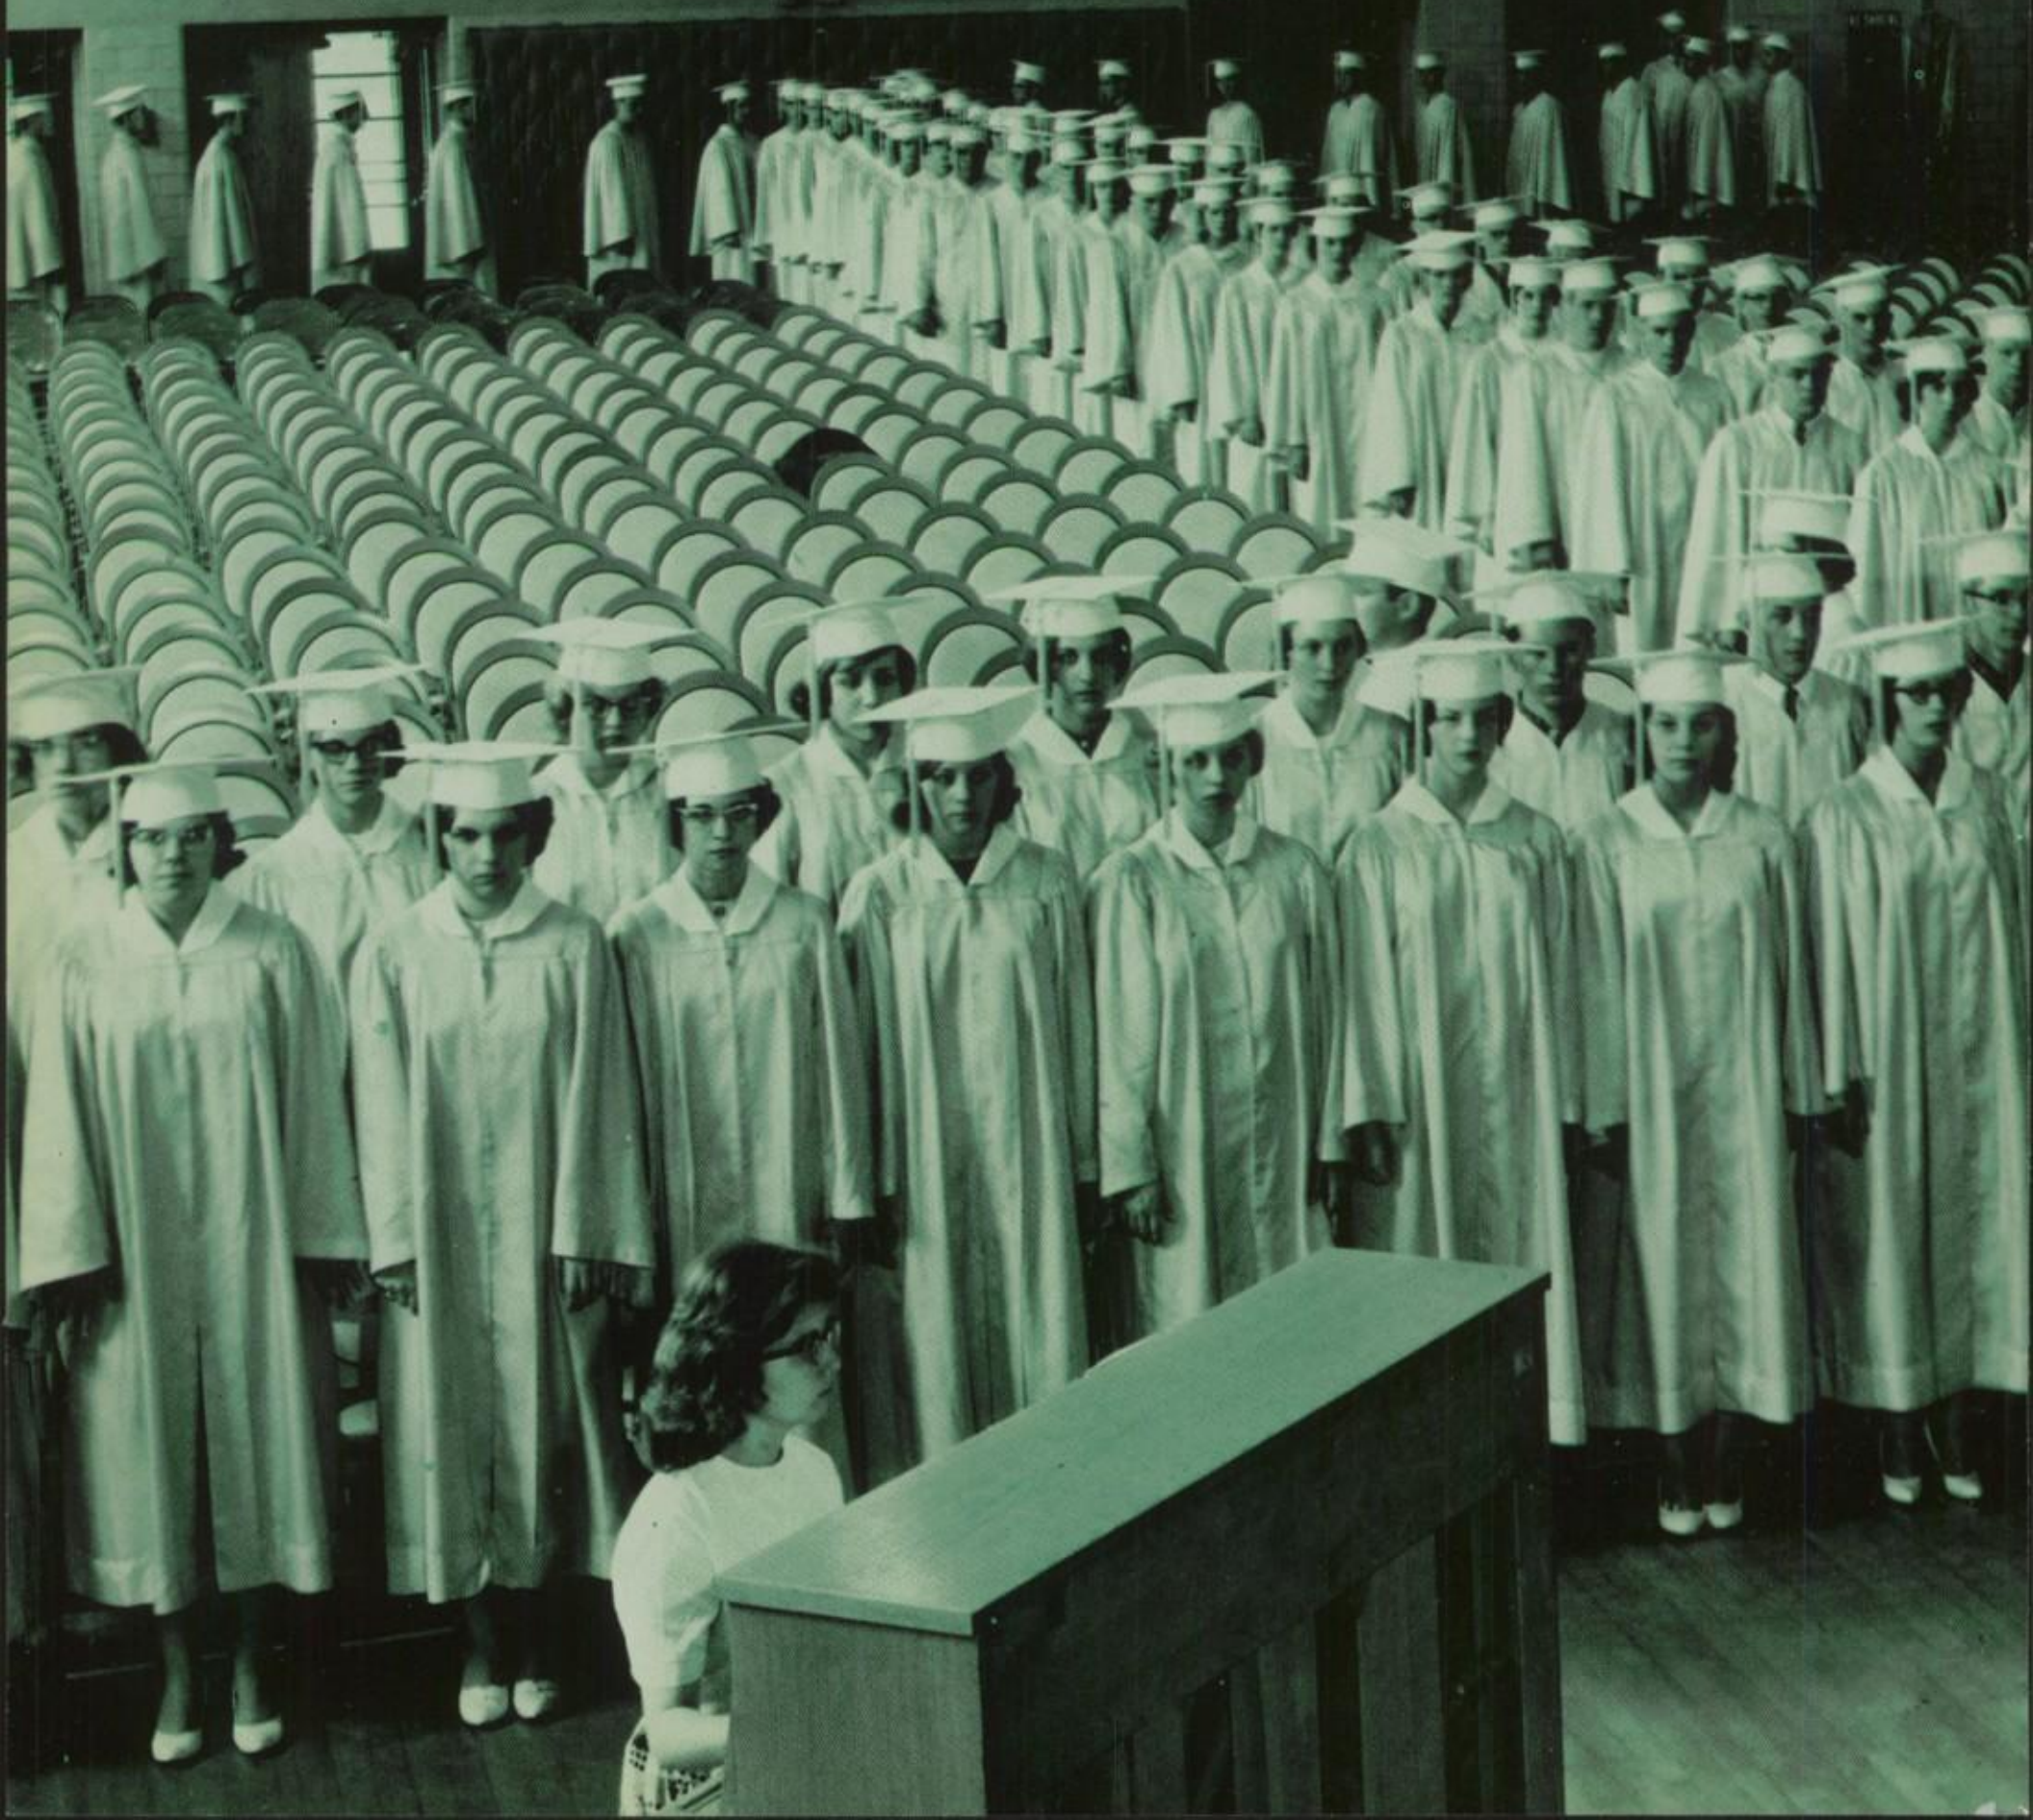

Georgianna Shick, the second honor student, helped write and present the class prophecies at the final assembly.

Ginger Feather, first honor student, approaches Mr. McCreery to receive her diploma.
